Hint: Misspelled START in CT adjacent to “Can you see anything Q”

- The text in the image below indicates a row width of 42.
- The K3 Plain text chart indicates at some point, alternating the PT and CT layers is used.

METHODS

STEGO TYPE - 1

- Locate your starting position(A) within the masking layer.
- Find the next instance of the K4 character (B).
- The decoded letter (C) is that position, but in the (PT)

STEGO TYPE - 2

- Locate your starting position (A) within the mask layer.
- Move over by K4 letter value (B)
- The decoded character (C) is at the position you land on

THIRD G/E
 SECOND K/A FIRST S/S

STEP 7: Return to position index 326 (S over S) and only using the CT mask layer; execute a type-2 STEGO method by moving over by K4 cipher letter(S) to the right. The character you land on (T) is your decoded character.

If you are using DeKryptos.com (Limited to larger screen computers) you can use the following:

Step 1: Press the  Book Of Knowledge in the top center of your work area to close the splash window.

Step 2: Press  in the top left corner to load the K3 chart.

Step 3: Click  to load the path tool.

Step 4: Click  skew-right in the text path.

Step 5: Click  in the modifier output to load in a new layer with changes.

Step 6: Click  to shuffle-even PT/ CT.

Step 7: Click  in the upper right-hand to load the STEG tool.

Step 8 Click  in the STEG field (Block Matrix) to load the STEG block.

Step 9: Press  to reverse the STEG block.

NOTE: This reverse appears to be an extra step caused by how this program works. There is a more natural way of looking at this.

Step 10: Set the insertion point (cursor position) to the misspelled START.

Step 11: Press the STEGO type-1 3 times.

Step 12: Reverse text.

Step 13: Apply (scribe).

Step 14: In the STEG field, click  to load the text into the STEG tool.

Step 15: Place the cursor in S over S (position 326).

Step 16: Press the STEGO.  Type-2 to the right to land on T.

Step 17: Press apply (Scribe).
